THE SMITH FAMILY

Radio Program Log 1929 to 1932

THE SMITH FAMILY is one of several early Marian and Jim Jordan radio success stories virtually unknown was to trace who recall FIBBER MCGEE AND MOLLY. Yet the SMITH FAMILY was a steady breadwinner for the Jordans in their earlier radio years. At the same time the Jordans were active in vaudeville, four days per week where the "big money" still was.

In a May 1980 interview Jim Jordan compared the style and format of this program with another series that also focused on an upper middle class family, well-remembered by those over 40 today as ONE MAN'S FAMILY. Leading characters of THE SMITH FAMILY, included Jim Jordan as Joe Fitzgerald, a prize-fighting boyfriend of Irene Smith (Thora Martins), Marian Jordan as Mrs. Nora Smith, P.G.B. "Bud" Morris as Ed Smith, Daisy Dugan as Betty Smith, Joe Smith as Henry Marshall, Betty's piano teacher and Edwin Dellridge, announcer and tenor. Later, Little Joe Warner played as Morris Rosenberg, Betty Smith's sweetheart, and Arthur Wellington was replaced by "Bud" Morris when the program moved to WMAQ.

This family-oriented program premiered at 5:00 p.m. on Sunday, June 7, 1929 over WENR. Each thirty-minute program was repeated on a week night at 9:00 p.m. first on Wednesdays and later on Mondays. THE SMITH FAMILY remained in this schedule pattern as a local broadcast until its 83rd program when it was switched to WMAQ-NBC on March 4, 1931. It was this same week that the Jordans' SMACKOUT premiered on NBC and soon after they joined FARMER RUSK in its first WMAQ program.

Through the loan of personal scrapbooks by Jim Jordan, it was learned that in March of 1929, at approximately the 30th program, the SMITH FAMILY picked up a sponsor, The National Tea Company advertising themselves as "Quality Grocers of the Middle West".

THE SMITH FAMILY continued for 156 broadcasts through April 3, 1932 when the stars of this family performed their last "home sketch" that Sunday evening. Carlton E. Morse's ONE MAN'S FAMILY premiered four weeks later on the West Coast, April 29, 1932, and continued successfully through May 8, 1959, exactly three months before Marian and Jim's FIBBER MCGEE AND MOLLY would sign off the air, forever.
